

Guest Writers Agreement

The purpose of this agreement is to ensure that you, the Guest Writer, understand your part in the execution of Science Doubt's mission. By copying this agreement, pasting it into an e-mail, and sending it to the editor; you are entering into an agreement to abide by the following:

- You agree to keep Science Doubt informed about the status of your published work. You are responsible for ensuring that the most accurate representation of your work is available to Science Doubt.
- You agree to ensure that all of your work that meets Science Doubt's publishing requirements has been made available for inclusion on the site.
- You understand that Science Doubt has established an e-mail address in your name or pseudonym and that it is providing a copy of correspondence addressed to it to the feedback box at Science Doubt. If you desire to receive direct feedback, this e-mail address will forward an additional copy to you at your unpublished e-mail address.
- You agree not to release private information of others who associate with Science Doubt that you may become aware of.
- You agree to use the Science Doubt pdf template for your articles presented on the site.
- You agree to regularly review the web page (your page) on Science Doubt in order to ensure that it accurately represents you and your work.
- You agree to keep Science Doubt informed of any changes in the links that may have been established on your page. (i.e. Your home site, books, etc) Science Doubt needs your help to ensure that your page is accurate in every way.
- You agree to maintain a civil/professional attitude towards Science Doubt and its other writers.
- You understand that Science Doubt does not necessarily endorse your work. You agree that any liability arising from your work is yours and that Science Doubt, its affiliates, advertisers, other writers, and its parent and sister organizations are not responsible for your work.
- You agree to represent Science Doubt in a positive light. Should you receive accolades for your work, an endorsement of Science Doubt's influence on presenting your work is expected.
- You understand that this agreement survives beyond your life time. Should you meet your demise, you agree that Science Doubt is free to continue to present your work.
- Should you terminate your relationship with Science Doubt, you are expected to maintain a professional attitude towards Science Doubt. You are not required to continue to endorse this organization; however, you agree to withhold any negative comments.

In exchange for this agreement on your part, Science Doubt agrees:

- To present your work in a fashion that is free of external or editorial comment.
- To update your input in a timely fashion, working as quickly as possible, to meet the presentation standards that are set within the site's programming.
- To present your work on at least two web pages within Science Doubt. This is not an archiving project, it is designed to actively present you and your work.
- To never claim ownership of you're your work. You maintain sole control of your copyrights.
- To screen all feedback associated with your work on Science Doubt that is routed through this organization for inappropriate content. This will not be available should you elect to receive direct feedback.
- To give you an opportunity to review and/or publish a rebuttal in writing any work submitted by other Guest Writers, that is in direct, specifically addressed opposition to your work. This does not include work that offers alternative views to yours that does not cite you or your work.
- To protect your privacy, at no time will Science Doubt, knowingly release information about you that has not been authorized by you in writing and confirmed through other means of communication. Special attention shall be given to this item, should you write under a pseudonym.
- To not charge you a fee for presenting your work on Science Doubt. Your presentation is in exchange for the privilege of publishing your work. Should Science Doubt transit to a pay-for-view site in any fashion, you, as an active Guest Writer, will be afforded full viewers access, free of charge/payment.
- Should you terminate your association in writing with Science Doubt, your work will be removed from its files. No disparaging remarks will be issued about you or your work. A civil parting will be expected by all parties involved.

This is the highlights, in no particular order of precedence or importance, that are designed to offer a working relationship similar to any other association that two people may have. It is designed to create a working relationship that is harmonious in nature. This agreement is subject to change and is not intended to be all inclusive. Articles submitted following the publishing of this agreement on Science Doubt are an indication of automatic acceptance of this agreement.

Individual details of this agreement are open for discussion between you, the Guest Writer, and Science Doubt. These discussions shall be conducted via e-mail with the editor of Science Doubt.